What services do we provide?

Software development
We do a full cycle of enterprise development. It starts from ideation, business analysis, creating the specification together with the project plan, development, and deployment with all further support.

DevOps
To keep put development process smooth and productive - we use our DevOps engineers to set up CI/CD processes. They are also responsible for all the deployments, database backups, system up and running throughout 24/7.

Web Design
Intobi teams up UI/UX designers to study customer needs in detail. They are engaged in UX-research interfaces and also create company branding from scratch. Our expertise can turn any idea into a beautiful work of art.

IT Consulting
Our approach is to deep dive into the bespoke requirements of our clients and offers them the best route to choosing technologies, architecture design, and technology adoption.

Data Science
Intobi is not only engaged in the development but helps Clients to do the right business decisions in terms of tech development. Our BA and Architects will do all the best to design the right tech strategy for your business.
Intobi is not just a software company, but a team of success-driven professionals.

“Jack-of-all-trades” does not only imply a broad knowledge or a bunch of useful techniques but the whole approach to our mission - making everything we can to satisfy the client’s needs.
Why is your success directly related to Intobi?
1 developer at this very moment in all other 98% of IT-companies is working simultaneously with...
Our corporate culture forbids the developers to have any work apart from the appointed client. We evolve only together with the project we are assigned to, as we foresee the future only in synergy.

Bearing in mind this goal, we have encompassed all vital skills in one entity to do this!
